Session introduction by Kona

Kona: Hi, and welcome to the Center for Planetary Management. I'm Kona Lisa Mahu; it is September 1st, 2026, and we are gathered together. We have Jacques in France, Evan in the Philippines, Bob in Texas and we're missing Juan today. I'm here in New York, and of course, the rest of our team is scattered across the globe. Those who are not able to meet with us right now, but we will include them in our meditation. Jacques, take it away.

Centering moment as a Team by Jacques

Jacques: Thank you, Kona, thank you, my Friends. Yes, it is time to just relax before we receive message, and we concentrate on our task and before we connect to the universe and connect all together.

Take a few deep breaths, breathing in and out slowly. Quiet your mind and connect with the universe. Imagine a radiant beam of light flowing from the center of the universe into your crown chakra, passing gently through each of your chakras, and continuing down into the Earth.

Now imagine sending this light back toward the universe and allowing it to radiate all around you, cleansing and purifying your entire being. Visualize this healing light flowing continuously—up and down, down and up—bringing peace to your mind, healing to your body, and relief from any pain.

And as human, we connect, starting by our heart line clockwise around the globe, collecting those who are missing today. And we connect our mind line counter-clockwise around the globe. So, as humans, we are encircuited.

And we call our Celestial Friends the Planetary Management Team from above: Machiventa Melchizedek, Sondjah, Asiah and any Beings who want to join us. Because, thousands upon thousands upon of Celestial Beings are available to reconnect at Urantia on the right track. We also salute those on the Sea of Glass, because we love them, and we salute those from far away, our Stellar Friends.

We stay in the States for 3 minutes in silence.

Opening Prayer by Bob

Bob: Heavenly Father, we ask you that Your Spirit be with us, and that Michael and Nebadonia's Spirits be with us, as well as other celestials that attend these meetings. We ask that you help us, lead us and guide us into doing those things you want us to do and develop those things you want us to develop.

We ask that you help our magazine become more prolific in that it reaches many more people and even maybe become “viral” in a sense because we so much want our magazine to become a success, and we need your help in doing this.

Father, we thank You for all that You have done for us and for all that You continue to do for us, and also that Christ Michael and Mother Nebadonia do for us, in helping our lives and making them better, and for filling them with so many wonderful things. We appreciate these things, and thank you.

Father, we want you to know that our small group here is dedicated to helping others to come and develop in spirituality and connect with Celestials. You know, hoping that this process can be streamlined in a way that many more people can come and partake of all the wonderful things that we have experienced ourselves.

Father, we say these things in the name of the Son, Christ Michael, Christ Jesus. Amen.

Jacques Amen. Thank you, Bob, for your prayer. I wonder if we have a message today, Let's see. Those on the Sea of Glass always gathering there, looking at us.

Kona: I do believe that Sondjah is with us. Evan, I'm not sure if you perceive a presence for a TR.

Evan: No.

Main Addresses with Sondjah

1. Humanity Becoming: Living the Seven Core Values, One Moment at a Time

Sondjah: Good morning, my Friends, good day. This is Sondjah coming to you, yes, from the Sea of Glass, surrounded here by many colleagues from near and far, which we know delights you to such a great degree. Your Stellar Friends also checking in through this technology in order to connect clearly to you and to observe the course of your meeting, and just to be present with you under the circumstances here.

We wish to give you a small message, again and always, of encouragement as you go through your daily lives and deal with your human mortal situations that come and go, the ebb and flow of your mortal lives. Sometimes these things can be quite challenging from your perspective, and just be encouraged that this is a small grain of sand in the large scheme of your ascension career. So, if you can sometimes put that into perspective in the middle of your day, as sometimes is very difficult, just remember this is just a very brief moment in your entire spiritual lifetime. And perhaps that will give you some comfort as you encounter things that might be considered most unpleasant, or even troublesome.

We encourage you all the time to keep your focus on the future, and you do quite well, but it is also important to manage your daily lives and everything that you do, and to be present in the moment in your daily lives, so we hope that this small message will encourage you in those moments of minor distress as you manage your families, your communities, and even the work that you do here at the magazine. Yes, it is just a moment of time, but it is also important to live into that moment fully and experience all of your emotions and live in your value system and share that value system. For that is the perpetual education that you can share with others until they are fully awakened and aware of the value system that resides within them already.

You are challenged by so many distractions, as is the case in most planetary living, but yours is exceptional on Urantia, and we acknowledge this on your behalf, and continue, again, to encourage you through those difficult times.

We have so much compassion and love for all of you and your colleagues who are not with you today. Just be at peace and know that you are well cared for and never alone, as we have told you before.

As for the content of your upcoming issue, we are also quite excited about how this can develop the “Humanity Becoming” and all that that entails. As you started with humanity at a threshold, this is quite a profound concept, moving from one to the other, and it may take you some time to actually complete this idea of “Humanity Becoming”. Maybe over several issues, even, because it is quite complex. Everything that we would like to be able to share with you and your readers about this concept. It is important to continue to lay the foundation before you get into the higher concepts of building civilization.

People must be able to walk in the value system and understand what it means to make decisions using the value system, the 7 core values, as you state, before you can build upon that. So do not rush this concept of “Humanity Becoming”, but live into that and write into that for your readers. That is our recommendation in this co-creative endeavor.

If you have questions about this, I'm happy to take your questions. Another comment is, as well, is, yes, you are planning and working towards creating some sort of a history [of the presence of Celestials in human life since ages], for your readership to understand why we are here and now, and we would encourage you to do this and use the resources that are available to you as a reference, as well as to create your own personal record of how this came about in your life, so we are aware of your discussion on this, and we encourage you along these lines as well. Thank you.

Jacques: Who has a question for Sondjah?

2. Humanity Becoming: From Physical Survival to Spiritual Development

Bob I just wanted to make a question/comment about “Becoming”. Does also includes “Becoming” independent physically in the sense of being able to provide for ourselves those needs that we have over extended periods of time. And that we need to be able to progress ourselves or our families to the extent that our family or ourselves can be independent, physically in the sense of food and shelter and other needs that we may have. And I'm asking if this should be a priority?

Sondjah: Thank you for your query. Your understanding of “Becoming” has taken a different perspective in that we are concerned with “Humanity Developing” from the inside out, their consciousness, their relationship to the 7 core values, which are innate within them. They are currently unaware of these things.

Your concern is with “physical sustenance”, which will always be provided, and yes, you can be prepared, and this is part of the message that you are sharing. But our concern with “Humanity Becoming” is for them to evolve spiritually and consciously in a way that they were not able to do before.

Humanity has always had access to their stores, their physical needs being met, food, or you would not have survived. However, humanity has simply survived on “animal instinct”, rather than “developing their true spiritual selves and spiritual nature”, because they were deprived of the connection with the Father for so long.

So, while you have great insight in how to prepare for calamity, and that is not to be ignored, it is our priority that humanity shall focus on their spiritual inner development, as well as their connection to consciousness and to their Thought Adjusters, the Father Fragment, and their Celestial Guides and Guardians. Thank you.

3. Inner Guidance: The Foundation of True Preparedness

Bob: Included in this is being mentally and spiritually prepared. Part of that is being able to face hardships with better fortitude and ability to face such things, if they should occur. I think that should that should be a part of the priority. Is that correct?

Sondjah: Certainly, if one is connected to one's Thought Adjuster, they are going to receive the guidance that they need in order to prepare physically, but one cannot properly prepare physically if they are not connected to their Thought Adjuster. They might be preparing for a calamity that is not going to occur, rather than being properly prepared for a calamity that may occur.

The difference is in that spiritual connection to the Father Fragment and to their Thought Adjuster to be more specifically in tune, even if they do not have any preparation, a person's priority is to be able to listen to their “celestial guidance”, and to Christ Michael himself, when he gives instructions for their personal well-being. Does that make sense?

Bob: It does. Thank you.

4. Becoming a Window for the Father's Light

Jacques: Thank you, Sondjah. This is Jacques, I have a question. Last week, I was at the seaside, surrounded by a large crowd of people enjoying themselves and playing in the waves of our beautiful planet's ocean. I was also wondering regarding the concept of "Becoming", how can I in such circumstances be able to improve, let's say the consciousness of these people, so that they connect to their Thought Adjuster.

Sondjah: Thank you for your question. So, imagine yourself with a beam of light radiating towards you. If you are receptive toward that beam of light, and it radiates to you and through you, if you are a window and not a stone, then that light will radiate from you, and everyone around you will be impacted by that light.

You simply being present to receive and to radiate allows the collective consciousness to develop in those folks that are around you because of proximity and your ability to be a conduit for this spiritual energy. There is nothing more that you need to do except to receive the Father, and in your intentions, radiate the Father outwards from where you are. Does that make sense?

Jacques: Yes, completely. It's what I'm trying to do, because I understand that consciousness. And everybody can connect to this wide planetary consciousness, and you can light this part of the Earth where you are. So, thank you for that lesson.

Later, during the group discussion, Kona compared this concept to being a lighthouse. A lighthouse continuously radiates its light, whether the sea is calm or a storm is raging. It remains steadfast, providing a constant light by which others can orient themselves and find their way..

5. You Are Not Alone in the Work of Light

Evan: Well, it's not actually not a question. I just wanted to express my deep appreciation to Sondjah because I really don't know how I'm included in this group. And it's, for me, such a mysterious thing because never in my wildest dreams would I, could imagine I, would be part of it, something like this. So, it's really a blessing, it's really a privilege, and I'm so honored. And I don't know what to say, Sondjah, I just wanted to say thank you.

Sondjah: Thank you so much for your expression of gratitude, and though you feel as if you have spent many years alone, you have made your own contributions to the work on this planet that has enabled many Angels, Guardians, and Midwayers to process from your intentions and do good in your locality, your country, your vicinity, in the families that you know. So, it is you that have made yourself available, and we simply understood that you needed more companionship along the work that you are trying to do to continue to encourage you.

Sometimes it feels we understand that you are very alone in the world when you are not surrounded by people of the light. And so, this is our way of putting you in connection with others so that you know that the work that you do is profitable and being shared on other platforms. And again, that you are not alone in the work that you are attempting to do. So, we are also grateful that you have kept the doors open for us to be active in your world, in your life, and the things that you are doing, and in such a way that we could connect you with this group physically, thank you.

6. Preparing for the Magazine's Gradual Expansion

Jacques: Thank you, Sondjah. Do you have other questions regarding the magazine. Sondjah, you have told us in the past. Dispatch the magazine to people you know, to your family members, and those who are able to receive the message, or open to receive the message. It is what we are doing today. From our point of view, it's a slow process, but we want it to be slow because we want to select those who will receive the invitation email to connect. From your perspective is there something else we could do to promote the magazine we are not doing today?

Sondjah: Thank you for your question. This is a process and part of the slow process in getting the word out and connecting people to the magazine is also for you to build your skills to be able to manage an influx of interest. You must be able to manage a high number of people who are interested in how you will respond. So, we are taking our time with you, rather than having this explode overnight, so to speak. Thank you.

Jacques: Thank you. Thank you for that. I'm not sure we have other questions for you. We are full of gratitude to be part of the team and to be able to connect with you, because some people around me sometimes say, "How do you connect with Celestial, you know?" They think it's something strange, but it's not. It's like speaking with friends, when we have this kind of connection with you. We feel the relationship, we feel this friendship with the Celestial, and of course, we are very, very curious about you, and the Sea of Glass, how it looks like, but it's a curiosity question as usual! Thank you Sondjah.

Evan: Can I ask a question to Sondjah?

Sondjah: Certainly. Please go ahead.

7. Understanding the Difference Between Mortals and Celestial Beings

Evan: Sondjah, my question would be: How would you explain to people in simple terms what is a celestial, and what are the different kinds? I know there are many "Orders" of Celestial Beings as described in the Urantia book. How do you differentiate Celestial from "normal or ordinary" people view you from the other side? Do you understand my question? How will you explain to simple people the difference between us and you?

Sondjah: Thank you for your question, and this is why it is a co-creative effort, because you lie within the mortal realm and have your own experience. We do not lie within the mortal realm, so how are we going to be able to tell a human, a mortal, what the difference is.

For you, you would have to answer that question for yourself. So, how would you answer that question if someone were to ask you?

Evan: I have to, I guess, seek assistance from my Thought Adjuster, first of all. And see how I could connect with the “other side” and probably really get into some kind of meditative state, being really conscious and deliberate, sincere and humble to my intention or desire. Is that a good thing to do?

Sondjah: This is how you connect with us, certainly. In order to explain the difference between a mortal and a celestial, you might refer to the work in the Urantia book that explains this. It's relatively clearly, but not in easy terms.

The difference is that mortals begin their lifetime in a planet in a finite matter state of being, but they are indwelt with the Father Fragment that is able to carry on, and over time, develop the memory of their life in what you call the soul. And once the material [life] is done with this mortal life, that is what carries on.

The Thought Adjuster may depart, but your experience as recorded in your soul carries forward. We have had some discussion with this team before along these lines, and the differences in various types of beings, so this is quite a complicated subject.

As for the Melchizedek's, we are “a created order” with very specific duties in the universe, and many of the other “Orders” of, as you say, celestial beings are created with specific tasks in the universe, and many of us will never know a mortal or fleshly life, as Machiventa has incarnated, but was never born. So, Melchizedeks may incarnate in planets, but are never born of a human. That is also a technology that is complicated to explain.

So, there is a whole set of hierarchy and dimensions which are complicated to explain to mortals who are subject to time and space. The technology is vastly beyond your comprehension, so suffice it to say that you are born of and in the flesh, and have the capacity to carry on with your ascension career by that part of you which exists after the flesh departs.

The difference is a celestial has never been born of the flesh. And they were created outside of that realm and that dimension. Does that make sense?

Evan Yes, yes, it does. Thank you so much for that, it is a very nice explanation, Sondjah.

Sondjah: Certainly.

Bob: I would like to echo to Evan.

Jacques Yes, please proceed, Bob.

8. A Co-Creative Exchange of Gratitude

Bob: I like the echo Evan's thought of gratitude for having been part of this group and having the fantastic experiences of Celestials that we've had, and I feel that it's very important that we recognize that Celestials are with us and that they're here and that they're wanting to help us through our hardships on this life as a people as well as individuals. And we're so fortunate as individuals to be here in this group to experience what we do.

Sondjah: Thank you so much for your comment and expression of gratitude. And we are equally grateful that you have made yourselves available to receive this communication and to extend it outwards into your lives as living the communication and living the message that we have brought to you. Especially the message that we are here and there is a plan. The message that there are 7 core values innate within you. The message that Christ Michael's love is enduring and his grace is enduring. The message that Mother Nebadonia is your Mindal Patterning, you are following her mindal patterning in all that you do, so there is so much that we are also grateful for that you have received, and in your reception.

Again, as the previous example, you are radiating this knowledge and understanding out in the way that you live and express your life, which is impacting your families, your communities, in ways that you could not possibly imagine. So, our gratitude is equally present with this co-creative process, so please accept and receive that as well. Thank you.

Evan: I do. Thank you so much. Thank you so much.

Group: Thank you, Sondjah, thank you, Kona.
